Committee Completes Its Work.

The quarterly convention of the freight classification committee, composed of representatives of the southeastern railroads, which has been in session for several days past at the Raleigh Hotel, completed its work late yesterday afternoon and adjourned. These meetings, the next of which will be held in an eastern city to be selected at a later date, are for the purpose of keeping the freight officials in close touch with each other, in order that an equable schedule as to classification may be maintained.

Mr. P. J. McGovern, secretary of the committee, announced yesterday afternoon that the session had been highly satisfactory. He also stated that rates for freight had formed no part of the work of the body, and that a report of the meeting will be submitted to the heads of the various railroad companies represented in the committee as soon as possible. Any changes recommended by the committee will become effective at once

Exhibition Unique.

The display of funeral designs by Mr. E. H. Morsell, dealer in cemetery goods, 1105-7 7th street northwest, is greatly admired by the public, for so well has nature's work been simulated in metal and porcelain that flower and plant appear real. Mr. Morsell is a pioneer dealer in this class of goods, and his stock in his four rooms is no less attractive than his show windows, for it is complete, and the newest designs are received as soon as made. For the funcreal and cemetery lot, as well as park and gar-den, everything may be found. AMENDMENT APPROVED.

Vehicles,

James L. Pugh, prosecutor at the Police Court, has recommended to the Commissioners an amendment to the police regulations governing the conduct of drivers of public vehicles with regard to remaining with their teams. There were two cases recently before the court in which drivers were charged with being more than five feet from their horses. They were dismissed on the ground that the law relates to teams on the move only. Mr. Pugh suggests as a substitute for section 12, article 4, the following:

drivers to obey and conform to the de-mands and directions of any member of the police force is not specific enough and cannot be made effective. In order to make the words 'or any other place what-ever' of any value, the words 'as herein-before provided' should be omitted. No necessity exists for the clause relating to disorderly conduct, because that is pro-vided for by an act of Congress."

The amendment has been approved by the
